

Mary E. Knippel

Author • Speaker • Copywriter

Mary E. Knippel, Writer Unleashed and founder of yourwritingmentor.com is passionate about mentoring women entrepreneurs to leverage their impact through writing... to unleash from the stories that have kept them silent...to claim their voices... and to live a life unleashed. A two-time breast cancer survivor, she used writing and other creative tools in her recovery and chronicles the results in her upcoming book, The Secret Artist- Give Yourself Permission to Let Your Creativity Shine. Mary shares what she has learned to help you move from survive to thrive.

Speaking Topics

Moments that Matter

Let's talk about those Moments that Matter...the moments of our lifetime...all those experiences which shape who we are, and the lives we lead. We'll explore how seemingly random incidents figure in to the fabric of our past, present and future. This presentation is designed to inspire, inform, delight and empower the audience.

Participants will learn how the stories they have lived can empower, educate, and entertain. They will discover the wisdom of their own gifts. And how to rewrite the stories holding them back.

Three Secrets Revealed for Your Handcrafted Life

There are so many women who are secret artists hiding their gifts because they believe they are just ordinary instead of uniquely extraordinary. This is about women giving themselves permission to be a secret artist and tell their story of life's challenges and the unexpected gifts and synchronicities that allow them to be the hero of their own life. This talk will offer tips to design and craft the life of their desires. It's time we stop being a secret. It's time for the secret to be revealed and to shine in your brilliance.

Participants will discover renewed confidence in their skills, tools to accomplish their goals, along with fun, fast and effective tips and techniques to create their own personal empowerment strategy.
